Wrightwood Records recording artist Marilyn Harris is a singer, pianist and songwriter whose talents have recently been described by L. A. Jazz Scene's Scott Yanow as "Most impressive..." After studying composition with Hale Smith at UConn and film scoring with Ray Wright and Manny Albam at Eastman School of Music, Marilyn worked extensively with jazz arranger Gil Evans, and studied piano with Richard Tee and Rodgers Grant. Following years as a working studio singer, pianist and arranger she's emerged with her first purely jazz offering: FUTURE STREET, which was followed by ROUND TRIP. Both CDs featured L.A.'s finest jazz studio musicians, Marilyn's original songs and swingin' arrangements by producer Mark Wolfram.

ORPHANS is a little different: there are still some jazzy tracks, vocals with Mark Winkler and Phillip Ingram, as well as smokin' solos by Dan Higgins, Steve Carnelli, P.J. Hanke and Kelland Thomas. But there's a lot of diversity in this mix of 17 original songs, as well - with pop anthems, ballads, country, alternative, smooth jazz instrumental - even a rock song rounding out the playlist.
